With new permit

Westvaco offers fishing privileges

As of July 1 of this year, Westvaco hunting permits for the 1984-85 Virginia hunting season also include fishing.

There is no additional fee for the new combination hunting-fishing permit. More than 170,000 acres of Westvaco timberlands in 21 Virginia counties are available to sportsmen with the $6 permit.

The new hunting-fishing permit is valid from July 1, 1984 through June 30, 1985 - the same as the Virginia state hunting license season.

Fishermen are reminded that in order to fish in rivers, lakes, ponds and streams on Westvaco property, a valid permit is required and a new permit is necessary after June 30 of each year. Tracts leased to hunt clubs are not open to permit hunting or fishing unless otherwise posted.

Hunting, fishing and other outdoor recreation opportunities are made available to the public through Westvaco's award-winning multiple use forestry program.

Besides wood, these scientifically managed forests provide food and cover for wildlife, help control erosion, protect watersheds and offer opportunities for recreation. Westvaco recently opened the Buffalo Creek Nature Trail on the Bedford/Campbell County line off Route 24. This 150-acre natural area features a unique variety of plant communities and forest types along three miles of trails.

In the interest of public safety, the Nature Area is reserved from hunting and shooting. Special Safety Zone signs mark the area. Sportsmen are asked to be particularly careful when hunting on the 900 acres which remain open to public permit hunting west of the Nature Area bordered by Buffalo Creek.

Maps of lands in Virginia open to permit hunting are available upon request at time of permit purchase for Albermarle, Amherst, Appomattox, Bedford, Buckingham, Campbell, Charlotte, Franklin, Halifax, Henry, Louisa, Nelson, and Pittsylvania Counties. Maps are not available for fishing areas or counties west of the Blue Ridge.

Westvaco hunting-fishing permits may be obtained by sending your name, a stamped, self-addressed envelope, number of your hunting or fishing license and a $6 check or money order to Westvaco Timberlands, P. O. Box WV, Appomattox, Virginia 24522.

Strong finish possible

ued Rustburg success, particularly against teams with taller players who will be able to shut down the Lady Red Devils' inside game.

The height factor could also affect Rustburgs' rebounding fortunes this season. "Because of their aggressiveness, I think the girls will do well rebounding against teams of similar height," notes the coach.

"But," she adds, "against the taller teams, we will have to make sure our outside shots are hitting. That helped us in the first game (against Jefferson Forest)."

Other than height, the only major challenge which Jennings feels her team must meet will be a general lack of playing experience among the starters.

"The players we have returning from last year's team did not have a great deal of game experience," Jennings says. "That may be a drawback against more experienced teams, especially early in the season."

Speaking of the competition in the Seminole District this season, Jennings says Altavista will likely be the strongest team, with their size and depth, thanks to the number of girls returning from last year's squad.

"Jeaney Hecht (of Altavista) was the district's player of the year last season, and she's back, and so are others from that excellent team," the coach says.

As for her own team's prospects, Jennings says "we hope to improve this year's record compared with last year's. If the girls play up to their potential, and if they continue to improve as they gain experience, then we should finish the season fairly strongly this year."
